

Figure S1: Contour-enhanced funnel plots showing the relationship between study effect size and standard error (study precision) for the relationship between range size and (a) habitat breadth, (b) diet breadth and (c) environmental tolerance range. Vertical line indicates the model estimate (mean effect size). Confidence intervals (white: 90%, light grey: 95%, dark grey: 99%) show statistical significance of study effect sizes.